Big Tank Gain

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Aug. 14 (AP)—American tanks lunged forward today in thrusts that carried them 7 to 12 miles eastward by noon along the center of Lt. Gen. Bradley's great smothering attack

To the north, American infantry is tearing through the Germans so fast that abandoned enemy machine-guns are found with their belts still loaded.

Frank Cunningham questioned him about his pass.

100,000 Foe Battling Trap

By GLADWIN HILL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 14 (AP)—A ring of American, British and Canadian forces, spurred by Gen. Eisenhower's declaration that they can score their greatest victory in the west, drove in furiously today for the destruction of the cream of German forces in northwestern Europe.

Caught in an almost complete trap in Normandy, approximately 100,000 Germans—a fourth of the entire force with which the Allies have—fought a confused, grueling battle under a sky filled with Allied planes.

The Nazis were trying to escape the jaws of a pincers which were within 18 miles of closing.

Eisenhower, in one of his rare orders of the day to all men of the Armies, Air and Naval Forces, called it a fleeting but "definite opportunity for a major Allied victory." (See text of order on this page.)

TRAP SPRUNG IN COUP

The trap was sprung, it was disclosed after five days of secrecy shrouded operations west of Paris, when powerful American armored and infantry spearheads sweeping in a 250-mile arc through Le Mans, converged upon the German flank and rear in a sudden twist to the north. This swing took the Americans through Alencon, Sees and Argentan, only 18 miles south of the Canadian First Army five miles above Falaise.

Now the American armored "Hammer" was beating the Germans against the Canadian-British "Anvil" below Caen.

Field Marshal von Kluge's defense of France south of the Seine appeared doomed as his forces squirmed under frightful punishment to pull out through the suddenly narrowed gap.

Practically all his escape roads toward the Seine were cut. Allied Air Forces were pouncing on every movement of the Germans, wrecking hundreds of locomotives and thousands of rail cars.

Not a wagon or a bicycle was immune from attack from the swarms of aircraft which buzzed over the battle area in endless processions.

ALLIES POUND ROADS

Roads that remained open were under Allied shellfire, and it appeared that only ne wGerman armies could stem the Normandy tide.

However, Von Kluge already had drawn on 40 of the 60 or 65 divisions he was believed to have had in France at the star of the invasion. British staff officers yesterday said the Allies had contacted 40 divisions.

Of these 15 already have been

Reds Mass for E. Prussia Drive

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Aug. 14 (AP)—The zero hour for an all-out Soviet assault on east Prussia appeared to be approaching rapidly today as Russian armies massed in a great threatening arc before the borders of that German province.

Russian Units to the South were 15 to 17 miles from the East Prussia frontier, while to the East other Soviet forces were seven to 20 miles away and to the North from 30 to 35 miles.

Red Army forces apparently striving to rip Nazi defenses in East Prussia wide open from the South menaced the enemy stronghold of Lomza, vital communications center that links embattled Warsaw with the Junker province.

Great tank battles continued in the Kielce Region about 100 miles south of Warsaw and within 35 miles of Krakow, the last great Polish bastion guarding industrial centers of German Silesia 75 miles from advanced Russian elements. Germans were counterattacking vainly.

Virtually no news came from the siege of Warsaw itself where the Russians were planted just outside the Polish capital.

Since Friday the Russians between Warsaw and East Prussia have bitten deep into German lines, capturing 530 settlements and forcing three rivers, the Narew, the Upper Bug and the Biebrza, crossed Sunday.

Marshal Rokossovsky's army group was pressing north and northwestward on a 65-mile front from the Bug northwest of Warsaw.

The Russians announced Gen. Yeremenko's second Baltic army, now almost half way across Latvia, had killed or captured nearly 70,000 Germans in a month, boosting to 609,526 the Nazi casualties in the summer offensive.

Mostowka, 11 miles northeast of Warsaw, was taken by Tokossovsky's troops. That town and captured Sulejow are only two miles from the Warsaw-Bialystok rail line.

Eisenhower Says:

Vast Victory In Our Grasp

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Normany, Aug. 13 (Delayed) (AP)—Allied armies have created a definite opportunity for a major Allied victory, Gen. Eisenhower declared today in an order of the day

In a special appeal to "Allied soldiers, sailors and airmen," the supreme commander said: "We can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war—a brilliant and fruitful week for us, a fateful one for ambitions of the Nazi tyrants."

Eisenhower called for a special effort by all Allied fighters.

The text of Eisenhower's order of the day:

"Through your combined skill, valor and fortitude you have created in France a fleeting but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory, one whose realization will mean notable progress toward the final downfall of our enemy.

"In the past I have, in a moment of unusual significance, made special appeals to Allied forces it has been my honor to command. Without exception the response has been unstinted and the result beyond my expectations.

Because the victory we can now achieve is infinitely greater than any it has so far been possible to accomplish in the west and because this opportunity may be grasped only through the utmost in zeal and determination and speedy action, I makemy present appeal to you more urgent than ever before.

"I request every airman to make it his direct responsibility that the enemy is blasted unceasingly by day and by night and is denied safety either in fight or in flight.

"I request every sailor to make sure that no part of the hostile forces can either escape or be reinforced by sea, and that our comrades on land want nothing that guns and ships and ship companies can bring to them.

"I request every soldier to go forward to his assigned objective with the determination that the enemy can survive only through surrender; let no foot of ground once gained be relinquished, nor single German escape through a line once established.

"With all of us resolutely performing our special tasks we can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war—a brilliant and fruitful week for us, a fateful one for the ambitions of Nazi tyrants."

Destruction of Nazis' 7th Army Near, 3 Others Hunted

By MERRILL MUELLER

Representing Combined American Networks

EISENHOWER ADVANCED COMMAND POST, Aug. 14 (AP)—Destruction of the German Seventh Army is about to take place in the Battle of France.

Gen. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, predicts this will be one of the most momentous weeks in the history of this war—a fruitful week for us, a fateful week for the enemy.

Peace cannot come with the major victory we are about to accomplish, because there are still three German armies in France which are not engaged. It is true that some divisions from these three armies have been shifted into the batile and are lost in the Allied pocket.

Some of the enemy divisions east of the Seine are lower units of poor quality, but the fact remains that these three armies have plenty of drive and fire power.

Only a political colapse within Germany—another attempt on Hitler to succeed—could possibly deliver this war to an armistice within the next week.

There is a slight chance that a political collapse may show its first manifestations on either the Russian or the Allied battle fronts with the German army's effort to rid itself by revolt of its new Nazi commanders. But even so, our terms still are unconditional surrender and clear roads to Berlin.

Gen. Eisnhower has been in almost constant conference with all his battle commanders for three days. He is working at a pressure reminiscent if the closing days of the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns.

These are the closing days of the campaign in northwestern France and the next phases are the campaigns of northeastern and southern France.

Gen. Eisenhower asks his command for even more self-determination and speedy action. He is commanding a Naval, Air and Army cordon around what is left of a German army, once under Rommel's command—a cordon without a passageway for the escape of a single Nazi.

If it succeeds, Paris is the plum for the taking with little effort.

Allied troops have produced a tremendous battle situation about to pay dividends of a great victory in the field. There will still be much fighting left to do in Europe thereafter.

Nimitz to Move on Tokyo

By J. B. KRUEGER

Japan's shaky island fortresses spanning the 3500 miles fromParamushiro to Halmahera have come under new Allied air attacks, giving explosive emphasis to Adm. Nimitz's pledge to "put the heat on as hard and as fast as we can."

Nimitz spoke after a visit to the Marianas, now building as a principal forward base for U. S. forces driving west. He said he might move his headquarters there. If he does, he would be 1000 miles closer to Tokyo than he is to San Francisco.

He told newsmen the war might be won without invading Japan.

"This war is a new experience for Japan," he declared. "We don't know how much they can take before they'll throw in the sponge."

At the southern end of the air war, the Philippines took their fourth bombing in five days, Gen. MacArthur announced patrol planes sank a 3000-ton freighter in Davao gulf Saturday. At Halmahera, island stepping-stone between Davao in the Philippines and New Guinea, night patrols set fire to a 1000-ton vessel and hit other ships. Installations in the Talaud Islands also were bombed.

Nimitz's Marianas-based Liberators bombed Chichi Jima in the Bonins 600 miles from Tokyo, hitting an airfield and a ship. Other raiders hit Paramushiro 500 miles north of Japan in the Kuriles, Pagan and Rota in the Marianas, Truk Atoll, and enemy positions in the U. S.-Dominated Marshalls.

Adm. Nimitz, who went to Saipan and Guam just after his conferences with President Roosevelt and Gen. MacArthur, disclosed 52,323 Japs were killed in the Gilberts, Marshalls and Marianas, at a cost of 5903 American dead.

In Yunnan Chinese gathered for assaults on Tengchung and Lungling, Jap Burma road bases.

Allies Capture Frontone, Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, Aug. 14 (AP)—Eighth Army troops have captured Frantone, 27 miles inland from the Adriatic in the Apennines, in the only major advance today along the Itaolian front, headquarters announced.

Snoping died down with Florence's capture, enabling Allied military officials to supply the stricken city with food, water and other necessities without major difficulty.

The Mediterranean Air Force, striking at southern France for the third successive day, hit hard at bridges over the Rhone and coastal installations.

Army Gets MP Held in Killing

Police efforts to obtain a manslaughter complaint against a military police sergeant, charging him with the fatal shooting of a 22-year-old AWOL Roxbury soldier, failed today as Judge James A. Delay in Roxbury District Court ordered him turned over to military authorities.

Lt. Col. Armand J. Lamouroux, commanding officer of the First Service Command military police, said the sergeant, Arthur Descouteaux, would face a general court-martial at Ft. Devens within the week after a thorough investigation by the judge advocate's office.

The soldier, Pvt. Peter Murray, reported as AWOL from Camp Pickett, Va., was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital early today after he had been shot as he fled from Sgt. Descouteaux and another MP, Cpl. Frank Cunningham, when the questioned his credentials.

The dead soldier's mother, Mrs. Margaret Murray of Albany st., Roxbury, is employed as a laundress at the hospital.

Sgt. Descouteaux was brought into court under an MP guard, into whose custody he had been given after hours of questioning by police about the shooting.

10 WITNESSES IN COURT

Judge Delay conferred privately with Capt. Edward Cain and Sgt. John Cuniffe of the Dudley st. station and Lt. Col. Lamouroux before announcing he would deny the police request for a manslaughter complaint and turn the sergeant over to military authorities.

Ten witnesses, including Margaret Wilson, 22, of Dello ave., Roxbury, who was talking with Murray when the two MPs questioned him regarding his credentials, were present in court ready to testify.

They are expected to be summoned as witnesses when Descouteaux faces his court-martial.

Murray's identity was established definitely by the Boston Evening American in a telephone call to Camp Pickett.

Both the camp provost marshal and superior officers of B Co., 264th Engineers' Combat Battalion, reported he was AWOL and that his description had been sent to all MP officers in the East.

N. E. Showers To Ignore Hub

Greater Boston's record-breaking heat wave entered its fourth day today with prospects the mercury would hit the 100-degree mark for the third consecutive day this afternoon and with no sign of relief until after tomorrow.

This was the forecast of the weather bureau in announcing that scattered thundershowers in other sections of New England today were not likely to reach the Boston area.

The heat and humidity continued unabated through the night with early morning temperatures registering in the middle and high 70's.

Tempests, squalls and odd shifts of wind on Sunday afforded brief periods of relief in several localities. At Rockport, a squall capsized seven boats competing in the Sandy Bay Yacht Club races and threw 18 persons into the water. All were rescued by Coast Guardsmen, but two of the boats were lost.

At Bath, Me., a miniature tornado uprooted trees, damaged several buildings, crippled power lines and forced firemen to set up portable equipment to maintain illumination in hospital corridors and operating rooms.

Today's hot blasts again sent thousands to the beaches, which had been jammed by record Sunday crowds. Revere Beach was thronged by more than 250,000, the season's largest turnout. Nantasket reported 200,000; South Boston beaches another 200,000, and Winthrop, 15,000.

Slain Soldier's Mother Story

By ALICE BISSELL

"I've got to believe there is a God!"

This was a sobbing appeal for strength to meet her ordeal, as it came from the lips of Mrs. Margaret Murray, middle-aged City Hospital laundress, whose soldier son was killed fleeing military policemen last night.

Mrs. Murray had lost her only son, Peter, 24, an Army private who had been reported AWOL.

She did not know of the charge against him. She had been told only that military policemen shot him down as he fled from them after questioning, near Dudley st.

"Oh, dear," she cried, "the boy didn't have to go overseas to get it. He got it down the street."

HE ASKED ABOUT DEATH

She looked around her small apartment in Dumore st. and her eyes brimmed with tears. She said:

"Before he went out last night he came to me and said: 'Mother, when did dad die?' I told him. He said, 'When did grandmother die?' I told him.

"Why did he ask those things? I thought merely that his return from camp had just revived his interest in the family and its records. But now I wonder . . ."

There came to comfort her S-Sgt. Robert Coyne, 24, of Robey st., Roxbury, a cousin and buddy of the slain soldier. He had survived 50 missions as a turret gunner in a bomber over Africa and Europe.

WAR DOWN THE STREET

As he took Mrs. Murray in his arms to say what he coud, she faltered:

"How lucky you were! All that service and fighting and you never got a scratch. Peter got it down the street. Is that war? I must tell myself again there is a God."

She said her so nhad come home Aug. 6. She understood he had been sent home to recover from an operation at Camp Pickett, Va. She added:

"He told me he would have to report to Army doctors here for treatment. I believe he went three times. He said he was due to leave tomorrow so he would get back to camp in time."

Peter was drafted last February, Mrs. Murray said.

"Before that he had tried to enlist in the Navy but they turned him down," she said.

"And now he is gone forever."

Peter had been pronounced dead when he was taken to the hospital where the mother worked.

She learned about ti when she reported there for work this morning.

Gen. Ben Lear's Forecast!

AEF to Tokyo via Berlin

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 14 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of Army ground forces, said today "much of the Army now in Europe mayr eturn home via the Suez canal and Tokyo, after years of absence."

Gen. Lear

Lear expressed this view in an address prepared for the annual encampment of the United States Spanish War VeVterans in connection with an essertion "a great many men will be needed for the decisive operations in the Pacific to carry through the final assault against the Japs."

"Victory in Europe is in sight—how soon I cannot proffer a guess," said Lear. "When this victory is gained, we shall turn much of our fighting force and all our strength and hatred against our enemies in the Pacific. We will wreck them completely and permanently in a military sense."

He urged the people "realize the importance of the continued emergency," adding: "Their attitude should be one of supporting the recommendations of military planners—definitely, positively and without the slightest trace of equivocation."

Brownell Here, Sees Big Dewey Victory

By FRANK REILLY

The campaign to elect Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as the next President of the United States will be concentrated in 26 states of the nation which have Republican governors and which, in addition, control 311 electoral votes, more than are necessary to assure G. O. P. victory this year.

This was the news brought to Massachusetts Republicans today by Herbert Brownell, Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee and close personal friend of the New York nominee.

Friends of Gov. Dewey are responsible for introduction of this realistic and practical political viewpoint into the campaign. Brownell indicated, stating further that in these states, including Massachusetts, are to be found two thirds of the population of the country.

NEW-TYPE CAMPAIGN

This type of concentrated campaign is new to Republicans, Brownell said, and it assures complete unity and sustained effort in support of the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

Brownell stressed that there are a total of 531 electoral votes with 266 needed for victory. The 26 states now with Republicans in control of local government, if carried in November, will give their party overwhelming victory.

Massachusetts, he predicted, will, with the aid of dissatisfied Democrats, go Republican this year. The commonwealth has 17 electoral votes.

Brownell is spending today in Boston completing plans for coordination of the local Republican campaign with the national contest.

Late tonight he returns to New York.

During a lengthy conference with representatives of the New England newspapers at a Parker House breakfast today Brownell discussed many subjects.

NO RACIAL ISSUES

Persons injecting racial or religious issues into the coming campaign will be repudiated by Gov. Dewey, he said. Soldiers will be encouraged to vote in the coming election. Efforts by the New Deal to exploit the war for political purposes will be deeply resented by Americans and will be brought to public attention when they occur, he said.

Numerous requests have been received for further speeches by Congresswoman Claire Boothe Luce of Connecticut, he revealed, and added there has been a shift of nearly 6 per cent to Republicanism in America since 1940. On the basis of that shift, confirmed by investigations in 15 Midwestern states, the New Deal will be defeated by the Dewey-Bricker ticket in November, he said.

Dewey Chiefs Map Strategy

PAWLING, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Republican campaign managers put emphasis on the organizing of precincts today as Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey worked on speeches for early next month when formal campaigning starts.

Dewey was to return to Albany from Quaker Hill Farm, where he drafted his first campaign talks. The subjects, places and dates of his campaign talks were not disclosed, but he will make a Western swing.

Plans have been kept carefully under wraps all summer to permit state and national leaders to devote most of their time to organizing, getting voters registered and arranging to transport them to the polls, counting heavily on organizations in 26 states where there are Republican governors.

Quincy Flier Saved After Pacific Crash

Lady Luck was looking out for Lt. Laurence R. Gilbert of Quincy Shore dr., North Quincy, when his Liberator bomber, bullet-ridden by Jap fighters, crashed into the Pacific at 85 miles an hour.

He and crew members spent the next six nights and five days bobbing around in rubber boats, sometimes in waves 15 feet high. Twice Jap planes flew over them but the pilots failed to spot them.

Then, when a Navy rescue plane plopped down to save them, the force of the landing punched a hole in its side. The plane sank and its eight-man crew took to its own rubber boats and joined the Army drifters.

FIRST COMBAT FLIGHT

Gilbert, who was awarded the Purple Heart after a destroyer picked up the castaways, is a 23-year-old co-pilot with the 7th Army Air Force. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gilbert, Park ave., Squantum, a graduate of North Quincy High School in 1939, who worked for his father, a building contractor.

He was on his first combat flight, a pre-invasion mission to Saipan which would have involved a round trip of 3000 miles if the bomber had returned to its base.

Gilbert's plane reached its objective and unloaded bombs. It turned back to cover a Navy plane beset by Jap fights. The Nips attacked for 25 minutes. Then a 20-mm shell crippled one of the bomber's engines. Before the crew could jettison gear, armor and even guns, the Liberator fell to 1500 feet. Lightened, it arose to 2500 feet.

"But we had to ditch," Gilbert reported. "As the plane filled with water I crawled out and inflated my Mae West. The nose of the plane had broken off. Two rafts floated beside us. The man got two more out of the plane before it sank."

ONE MAN LOST

"Most of us were seasick and two men were injured. One was lost. The next morning we saw a Liberator far to the North. I fired flare after flare but he failed to see us and finally disappeared."

On the third day another flier failed to see the rubber boats. He was the pilot of a Jap twin-engine bomber. "He flew directly overhead at 1500 feet," said Gilbert. "We had the bright orange sides of our tarpaulin covers out but we flipped up the blue sides for camouflage in a hurry and ducked under. I peeked out to watch the Jap plane go slowly overehad. It was so low the gun blisters and big red roundels were plainly visible. I sweated until it was out of sight."

On the fifth day a Navy search plane sighted them. A land-based craft, it dropped dye to mark the spot. Late in the afternoon a Navy rescue plane landed 300 yards away.

"We broke all records paddling over to it and when we were nearing it I jumped out and swam," Gilbert related. "But the crew warned us off. They jumped and the plane sank. Eight of them joined us. Next morning a destroyer came over the horizon and rescued us."

counted as destroyed or badly cut up in the beachhead battles, the St. Lo breakthrough, the Brittany sweep and the terrific battles in the hedgerows below Caen.

Now 12 more understrength divisions were believed caught in the giant bag.

Only the coming hours could show how many of these Von Kluge would be able to extricate.

It appeared unlikely he would be able to save enough to make another stand below the Seine, and as yet there was no indicationshe had been able to build up a reserve to defend even Paris.

USES BIKES TO FLEE

He was making a desperate effort to save as much as possible, however, using haywagons, farm vehicles and even bicycles to move his troops, and leaving behind a hard- rear-guard crust to prevent Allied armies from the west, south and north cutting his retreating forces to pieces.

This resistance still was particularly strong in the north. It made Canadian and British progress extremely slow above Falaise, and prevented the Americans around Vire and Mortaine from making better speed.

The German withdrawal still was not a rout.

Meanwhile, there still was no news of any Allied operations east of Le Mans toward Paris, nor from the spearhead which crossed the Loire three days ago and struck southward 10 miles.

Lt. Gen. Dempsey's British Second Army advanced two miles to a point just north of Proussy and closed to within three miles of Conde-Sur-Noireu, 24 miles south of Caen.

Hunt Woman in Strangle Murder of Ex-Marine

A finding of murder by strangulation was reported by Medical Examiner William J. Brickley today in the death of John F. Prunty, 44, discharged Marine veteran of two wars, whose battered body was found Sunday in the Fenway.

NURSE ATTENDS LORENA DUEST IN CITY HOSPITAL
Navy Holds Sailor in Attack on Beverly Girl, 14

At the same time police were checking on companions of the victim, discharged as over age last Thursday and given $165 in pay, theorizing he had been robbed by them and strangled with his Marine service belt to prevent his identifying them.

Dr. Brickley reported that Prunty had three distinct head injuries, any of which could have caused unconsciousness but none had enough to result in death.

Police are of the opinion that Prunty was beaten into unconsciousness at some other place, his limp body dragged to the scene and that than he was strangled with his own belt. Discovery of the imprint of a woman's heel along the trail where the body was dragged indicated that a woman had taken part in the robbery and murder.

IDENTIFIED BY BROTHER

Alongside the body were two hat checks from the Casa Manana night club. Detectives plan to question attaches there in the belief that Prunty may have been at the club Saturday night and had been lured to a rendezvous by a woman companion of the killers.

Identification of the victim was made by a brother, Thomas Prunty of Calumet st., Roxbury, who said John was a sergeant in the last war and had re-enlisted in the Marines right after Pearl Harbor. He was discharged five days ago.

Found on the body was a key to a Newland st., South End, rooming house. Operators at that address told police Prunty had hired a room Thursday but had failed to occupy it.

The spot where the crime occurred is a lonely one late at night, there being a heavy growth of bushes there between the bridle path and the nearby Muddy river. Beyond the bridle path is the automobile boulevard, and a half mile or more away Huntington ave.

ESTRANGED FROM WIFE

Sgt. Prunty, who was estranged from his wife Alice of New York City, had served at Quonset Point, R. I., and prior to discharge, in Boston.

According to Mrs. Thomas Prunty and her daughter, Mrs. Foster H. Rutledge, wife of an overseas serviceman, the family last saw Sgt. Prunty at Easter time. He leaves two other brothers, Hugh Joseph, a retired Marine, and Steven, both of Greater Boston, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace of Telegraph st., South Boston.

Dr. Brickley notified police that Prunty had a lower plate which was missing from his mouth, and asked that they search for it.

Sailor, 18, Held In Attack on Girl

An assault warrant naming an 18-year-old sailor as the assailant of Lorena Duest, 14, of Eliot st., Beverly, was obtained in Charlestown District Court today by Special Officer James J. Mahoney.

Police said the Navy youth was being held at Fargo barracks, but is expected to be turned over to their custody.

The girl, whose face was battered and who had several teeth knocked out, told police she had been dragged into a Charlestown coal yard by a young sailor she met at North Station.

While police prepared to have the girl view a number of suspects aboard the Navy vessel, naval authorities came forward with the information they had located the man sought and that he admitted beating the young girl. He denied he had attempted to attack her.

The young Beverly girl, treated at the City Hospital for cuts and bruises, told authorities she had come to Boston with a married sister, but had missed the last train home.

Television Sets At Lower Prices

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—If the prospective post-war television industry hopes to make its developing art available to the largest audience, or as a radio executive put it, to "eighty-six per cent of the people who would like to have a receiver," consumer cost of sets should be as low as possible.

James H. Carmine, Philco vice president, declared it was his opinion that table model receivers should range between $125 and $150, with the larger consoles not to exceed $225. These costs would be below the top figure asked in the temporary introduction of television before the war, when consoles were quoted as high as $700. This later was reduced to $400.

Carmine said that in getting television ready the radio industry had invested $25,000,000 in research and development. "Probably never before," he added, "has the product of a great new industry been so completely planned and so highly developed."

Doubt Blood Gift Will Save Boy, 4

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 14—Four-year-old Jackie Krumholtz, dying of acute lymphatic leukemia, received help from an unexpected quarter, but an authority on the rare blood disease expressed doubt that the child would recover.

A Chicago man who requested anonymity told Jackie's father, Arthur Krumholtz, by phone he had recovered from the disease and desired to give the child a transfusion in the hope of aiding recovery, Krumholtz reported. The offer was accepted and the transfusion—the boy's seventh—was made after the Chicagoan arrived here by plane.

Attending physicians termed the child's condition "critical" and were administering 25,000 units of penicillen every four hours.

43,000 Workers End Walkouts

BY THE ASSOCIAED PRESS

The strike outlook improved considerably today as the number of idle workers in the United States and Canada dropped from a weekend high of 61,000 to about 18,500.

Truck shipments began rolling in eight midwestern states as 25,000 drivers for 103 government-seized compaies returned to work. Ellis T. Longenecker, ODT Federal Manager of the seized lines, said the truckers would receive seven-cents-an-hour wage increase, over which the dispute occurred. The raise was ordered by the War Labor Board.

In Montreal, street cars and buses resumed service with the Montreal Tramways Co. under temporary government control which sent 4,00 operators out 11 days, to work.

In Detroit, 7000 returned to General Motors Chevrolet gear and axle jobs and 3300 Briggs Mfg. Co. workers reported. And at Muncie, Ind., 3000 Borg Warner workers were on the job.

The largest dispute kept 4000 idle at the Philadelphia & Reading Co. mines, Shenandoah, Pa.

No More Fuel Oil If You Destroy Stove

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Fuel oil rations will be withheld from anyone who destroys coal or wood burning equipment or who sells or gives it away to obtain ration stamps, the Office of Price Administration said today.

Child Heat Diet

WORCESTER, Aug. 14 (AP)—What gets into children in this hot weather? Well—

Police reported that: Patrick Flynn, 22 months old, swallowed a screw; Edward Dahlquist, 2, drank fuel oil, and Dorothy Salmon, 9, swallowed an open safety pin. All were taken to a hospital for X-rays.

War? Normandy Thrills at Rodeo!

By HAL BOYLE

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE, Aug. 1 (delayed) (AP)—Artillerymen of the 19th division thrilled doughboys and French peasants with the first old-fashioned rodeo ever staged in Normandy.

The rideo was held in a pasture during a recent battle lull with troopers from Texas, Oklahoma, Idaho and the Dakotas performing the standard bulldogging, calf-roping, steer-riding and trick roping contests in a rough holiday from firing big guns in this rough and ready war. By nightfall they were more bruised and tired than if they had spent the day tossing hundreds of shells a t the Germans—instead of being tossed themselves by thousand-pound steers.

The stock for the rodeo was supplied by excited French cattle-owners and natives gathered from farms miles away to seee American cowboys in khaki demonstrate the broncsh-busting they had seen before only in Hollywood horse operas.

Bergen to Marry Powers Model

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (INS)—Edgar Bergen, screen and radio comedian and Charlie McCarthy's "pa," revealed today that he will marry Frances Westerman, New York artist's model, perhaps in October.

"I am in love with Frances and expect to marry her," Bergen said, "but not immediately. She has a job as a Powers model and she wants to have a little fling at her career first. I go back in October to do a show from New York and to see her."

Asked if October was the wedding month, he said "perhaps, but I am not sure. But we are engaged and will be married. I know she's the only girl for me. She not only has beauty but is such a sensible girl."

Army Scientists Cut Disease Death Rate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (INS)—The War Department announced that the present death rate from disease in the Army is not only lower than in World War I, but lower than at any time in the last 10 peace time years.

The board's research workers have found new methods of combating contagious diseases, ranging from a method of oiling floors and blankets to trap the germs of airborne infections, to the use of a protein substance separated from blood plasma to check epidemics of meas'es.

"The magnitude of this accomplishment," the War Department said, "can be realized when it is remembered that in the Spanish-American War disease killed seven times as many American soldiers as did Spanish bullets."

The board's work, said the War Department, supplied the basic data for improvements in housing conditions for troops, methods of immunization and prophylaxis, and numerous other health safeguards."

The commission on meningitis discovered that a small dose of sulfadiazine would kill germs of this disease in the nose and throat.

Although pneumonia has not been a large problem in Army camps, recent investigations, said the report, indicate that at least two types of influenza eventually may be brought under control by vaccination.

Other diseases under investigation include scarlet fever, septic sore throat, rheumatic fever, mumps, infantile paralysis, and bacillary dysentry.

Jury Right Claimed

By PAULINE WARREN

Men running for public office this year are well aware that for the first time in Massachusetts history women will decide the coming elections. Already there are more women than men registered throughout the State.

Women are well aware of it, too, particularly the women's leagues, which have been battling for 20 years to make Massachusetts recognize women as "persons" fit for jury duties.

(Editor's note: When women were given the vote their right to serve on juries in this state was denied by the Massachusetts Supreme Court which ruled that women were not "persons" as defined in the jury statute.)

Each year a bill was introduced but each time it was defeated, mostly with the old saw that "women's place is in the kitchen." This rankles even more with Massachusetts women this year since Vermont recently capitulated and now is proud of its mixed jury system. Also, Maine, another near-by state, has had women on its juries for years.

Mrs. Henry Wise

Voicing the indignation of thousands of women throughout the state, Mrs. Henry Wise, president of the Cambridge League of Women Voters, issues an acid warning to present and future representatives. She says:

"Have our legislators denied us our legal right to serve on juries because they think that Maine women, or Vermont women, are more capable and trustworthy than Massachusetts women?

"Opponents of the bill also say their wives and daughters don't want to serve on juries.

"How can this sway their judgment when thousands of other worthwhile women are clamoring for their right? How can they account for the fact that no woman legislator has ever gone on record against this bill each time it was presented?"

Deadlier Robots Due, Says Halifax

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (INS)—British Ambassador Halifax, back from two months in England, said the British public today are confronted by the prospect of "a much larger and more deadly bomb in the form of a rocket"—a prospect which prevents anyone in England from being over-optimistic about the war.

The tall, slender envoy made the disclosure at a press conference at the British Embassy during which he related some unadorned truths about the flying bomb attacks on London. After the conference, an embassy official said he thought it was a mistake to play down "what the robot bomb actually has meant to us."

"The flying bombs come by day or by night, yet they have had not the slightest effect on the resolution of the British people," said the ambassador.

In fact, he declared, the British are preparing to make their full impact on Japan as soon as the European war is over. He revealed that some English factories are already switching over to materials for the Pacific war.

But the British public is not eager to make further sacrifices in the interest of Washington's policy against Argentina, the ambassador made clear in response to a question on the desirability of cutting off purchases of Argentine meat as a sanction against that country.

PAC Renews Fight To Pass Kilgore Bill

By DAVID CAMELON
Boston Evening American, Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—Rallying from the crushing defeat dealt them in the Senate, forces of the CIO-Political Action Committee today pinned their hopes on the House for passage of the Kilgore-Truman-Murry reconversion bill.

Sidney Hillman, Russian-born master-mind of the PAC, was reported in Washington at the time the Senate buried the measure under an avalanche of Southern Democrat and Republican votes. Reports were that he immediately went into a huddle with his Washington forces, mapping a strategic drive to revive the measure.

At offices of the Kilgore subcommittee of the Senate military committee, which sponsored the measure, spokesmen confirmed that a fight would be made for it in the House, where a committee headed by Rep. Doughton (D.) of North Carolina, met today to consider the George reconversion bill, which the Senate passed over the Kilgore-Truman-Murray measure.

Whatever comes out of the committee is expected to bear some resemblance to the George bill, and none at all to the Kilgore-Truman-Murray proposal. A stiff fight is expected on the floor for the PAC-backed measure.

In the House, from northern industrial states, where the PAC claims its greatest strength, the CIO hopes to rally far greater over-all strength.

Paper Salvage In Apartments

Under supervision of their superintenderts and janitors, Boston's apartment house residents soon will have a waste paper salvage drive of their own, Metz Hayes, chairman of the New England publishers' representatives, announced today.

The cliff dwellers' campaign will get under way as soon as plans are completed by the Boston committee and the publishers' group. Salvage officials say much reclaimable paper is thrown into incinerators.

The Boston Apartment House Owners' Ass'n has been conducting salvage campaigns for a year in the 1100 apartment buildings it represents. Under the new plan, full co-operation of all apartment house dwellers will be sought.

Early Nazi Crackup Doubted

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American War Correspondents

WORLD WAR I ended with an armistice dictated to the Germans by Marshal Ferdinand Foch in agreement with Gen. John J. Pershing, the British high command, and approved by French Premier Clemenceau, "The Tiger," President Woodrow Wilson and British Prime Minister David Lloyd George. The armistice was signed in a railway coach at Compiegne, near Paris.

The head of the German armistice commission, Reichstag Deputy Mathias Erzberger, was afterwards assassinated by three young radical Nationalists who escaped to Hungary and were never arrested. A few months later, Walter Rathenau, German foreign minister, was killed in his motor car. The assassins, three youths, when surrounded in an ancient Roman watch tower near Naumburg, committed suicide.

It is doubtful whether World War II will end with a formal armistice with Germany. As long as Hitler, Goering or Himmler are alive and free, and there continues to exist their extensive secret organizations made up largely of fanatical radical younger men and youths, which will go underground, none will have the courage to sign the "crushing humiliation of the German people," and the "end of Germany."

Without a responsible government that can authorize an armistice and empower a commission to sign it, and is able to carry out the terms, there can be no formal armistice.

It is conceivable that the war may end through the defeat and surrender or capture of one German Army commander after the other, the Army as such ceasing to exist, breaking up, quitting and going home much as the French Armies did in 1940.

There are, however, few signs of that yet, either in the east or in the west.

There is much speculation about Germany's military reserves. It might lead to further disappointment as to the duration of Germany's capacity to continue the war for months yet, if we assume her manpower is about exhausted.

According to figures and estimates of the U. S. War Department, Germany in the first World War mobilized 11,000,000 men out of a population then of 66,000,000. At the same ratio on Germany's present population of 80,000,000 (including Austria and Sudetenland) it could mobilize between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000.

It is conceivable, even very probable, that Hitler's "total" mobilization has reached close to 16,000,000 men.

If we assume that Germany's losses in this war have been what they were in World War I, namely 7,142,558 dead, wounded and prisoners, Hitler would still have in excess of 8,000,000 men under arms. Behind those, however, there cannot be reserves in large numbers.

Hitler, Goering and Himmler are adopting two methods—the methods of the French revolution and of the Bolsevik revolution to hold the German people to them. A reign of terror against the upper classes and giving the masses what they want, except peace.

The radicalized masses can be satisfied only at the expense of the aristocrats and property classes.

Hitler and his Nazi chieftains are in a fair way of making Germany a second Soviet Russia. At the same time Italian Communists led by Tagliatti, a minister of state, are causing grave concern in Italy.

You Can Plant Late Crops Now

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Don't sit back and rest after harvesting your early crops. The land still can be used for certain late crops and the additional production will be welcome when winter rolls around.

Using our demonstration garden as a guide to planting dates it is well to note the following as regards to late crops. In the past week we have cleaned up on early crops of beets, beans and carrots and now have more land available for late crops. According to our planting calendar there is still time to plant certain crops if you will water and fertilize to encourage fast growth. This week we plan to plant lettuce, beets, endive, purple top turnips and carrots. Also put in some Swiss chard if the first crop has gone by. Late spinach can also be planted a little later.

Another serious factor in our food program is the lack of interest shown in canning this year. Do not be misled by conditions as they are today. The prospects for next winter look bad. If you expect to supplement citrus fruits with tomato juice you will have to can it yourself as there will be very little in the market, and citrus fruits will be high.

Okay Hospital Grant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Sen. Weeks (R.) of Massachusetts has been notified the Federal Works Agency has approved a grant of $14,500 to the Truesdale Hospital, Inc., of Fall River, toward construction of a nurses' home to cost $30,500.

RELIEF FROM
Headaches and Dizziness
Associated with
HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

G.P.L. TABLETS have never been sold as a cure for High Blood Pressure. They are to be considered at all times only an aid to the relief of the painful headaches and dizziness associated with High Blood Pressure.

If you suffer from the torturing pains of High Blood Pressure try G. P. L. Tablets as have thousands of others. G. P. L. Tablets provide many of the benefits of garlic without lingering after effects. Through the use of a special process and their chocolate coating they are without taste and odor and may be taken freely without distaste or offense to others.

G. P. L. Tablets often aid in providing an easy and quick means of aiding relief of dizziness and headaches associated with High Blood Pressure. These tiny, chocolate coated tablets are free from all dangerous drugs and may be carried in purse or pocket to be taken at any convenient time.

Besides garlic, G. P. L. Tablets also contain concentrates of lettuce, endive, parsley and dulse.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Thousands of people have used G. P. L. Tablets. You, too, may purchase a package of these tablets and try them. If they do not satisfy you bring back the empty package and receive your entire purchase price.

A box of 75 G. P. L. Tablets costs but 89c. A small price for the relief they may bring you. G. P. L. Tablets are sold only at the Nature Food Centres Stores. Get your package today.

service revolver after Murray fled in the midst of their questioning of his credentials.

Police quoted Sgt. Descoteaux as stating that he spotted Murray at Dudley and Washington sts. with Miss Wilson and called him over to the patrol car to ask for his pass. When the sergeant questioned the paper which Murray showed him, the soldier slammed the door and ran up Dudley st.

GIRL BLAMES DATE

"I dashed out of the car," Descoteaux related, according to police, "and fired two shots into the air to halt him. When he turned the corner of Dana st. I followed him and fired two more shots. When he fell a crowd gathered quickly, so Cunningham and I went to a lunchroom nearby and telephoned Station 9 for an ambulance and also called MP headquarters."

Miss Wilson, an attractive, blue-eyed brunette, told the Boston American she had met Murray for the first time only a short while before the shooting.

"If he hadn't met me," she sobbed, "he would still be alive. I thought he was a very nice boy.

"We were standing in front of the First National Bank building at Washington and Dudley sts., when the First Service Command car pulled up and the sergeant called him over. He left me and showed the sergeant a card. The sergeant told him to get in the car until he could have the pass verified.

"My friend asked a question—I thought he was asking if I could go along—and when the MP said no, my friend took off his hat and ran up Dudley st. to Dana st.

SHOT FIRED FROM CAR

"The sergeant fired one shot from the car and then, when he was half way across the street, fired another. I ran across the street and followed, but I didn't see the shots fired in Dana st. When I got to where the body was, the MPs were standing near by and a crowd was gathering.

"After a while I lost sight of the MPs. Then a police car came and they took me to the station."

While Descoteaux and Cunningham were at the Dudley st. station awaiting the arrival of the police, Lt. Fallon and a stenographer, an Army corporal from MP headquarters appeared at the desk and asked if the two soldiers had been arrested by the civil authorities. Informed that they had not been, the MP corporal said:

IN ARMY CUSTODY

"I place the sergeant under arrest and take him with me to military police headquarters."

However, as they started to leave Desk Sgt. Thomas Conboy informed them that the soldiers must undergo examination by Lt. Fallon. Later an MP captain unsuccessfully tried to obtain the pair's release.

Descoteaux and Cunningham were finally turned over to the Army in custody of Lt. Col. Lamouroux.

Abp. Spellman to View Cassino Abbey Ruins

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 14 (AP)—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman will visit the Monte Cassino Abbey, famous shrine of the Benedictine order destroyed by Allied guns and bombs, it was reliably reported after he had another private audience with Pope Pius.

It is likely that his visit is connected with plans for restoring the monastery.

'A Man Is Known by the Company He Keeps'

IN THE ELECTION on November 7, American voters will determine the course of the nation for a generation or more.

The occasion represents a critical turning point in our nation's history.

Those who would furtively cause "a revolution by indirection" are counting on popular inertia and carelessness.

They are hoping that the New Deal can extend its "mandate" for sixteen years through emotional appeal in behalf of the "Commander-in-Chief."

Thus, counting on fanfare and showmanship, they are banking on the fact that the average man will forget the long years of dictatorial "must" legislation, the purges of independent members of Congress, the attempted packing of the Supreme Court, and the long cynical years of "spend and spend, elect and elect."

In the circumstances, it is not enough for the voter to read the platforms of both major parties or to listen to the speeches of the candidates.

For no swindling fishmonger DESCRIBES his product as "rotten."

In order to discover the realities behind the surface facts, it is necessary to recognize the political bedfellows of Fourth Term Candidate Roosevelt.

It is well to keep in mind that before the Democratic convention at Chicago responded to his command to renominate him, Mr. Roosevelt had already been accepted as the candidate of Earl Browder's Communist Association and of Sidney Hillman's Committee for Political Action of the C. I. O.

Likewise, he is the selection of Pravda, editorial mouthpiece for the Soviet regime of Joseph Stalin.

On the other hand, Thomas E. Dewey is OPPOSED by all disruptive elements.

Thus, the nature of the conflict becomes clear.

THIS IS NO ROUTINE COMPETITION BETWEEN THE TWO MAJOR PARTIES.

ON THE CONTRARY, MOST OF THE JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRATS IN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY have been in revolt against the New Deal and its revolutionary supporters.

The Jeffersonian Democrats forced the "liquidation" of Vice President Wallace, and in some States of the South, are threatening to turn thumbs down on "the champ" himself at the electoral college.

On the home political front, the battle lines are drawn.

Through his record and his character, Mr. Dewey appeals to Republicans and Democrats WHO BELIEVE IN PERPETUATION OF THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTIONAL SYSTEM.

The New Deal crowd has unified the malcontents and revolutionaries WHO WANT TO TERMINATE THE AMERICAN SYSTEM, and subtly put some totalitarian substitute in its place.

No New Deal stump speaker will delineate the issue so clearly.

Politicians in an election year want to be all things to all men.

But it is impossible for Candidate Roosevelt to draw a flattering portrait of himself, for he will find it impossible to offset the impression created by the disreputable company he keeps.

Instead of pussyfooting on this issue, Mr. Dewey, as a progressive American and believer in balanced rights between the States and the central government, should boldly take pride in the fact that subversive and un-American elements refuse to cluster around him.

Messrs. Browder and Hillman have given the voters a tipoff on what underlies this pivotal election in this important year of decision.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—People are always asking me in what circles I move in Washington and I always reply, in a very stuck up way: "Banking and currency circles."

Naturally, this brings on questions. My interrogators demand to know why I move in banking and currency circles, and I tell them because it is so much fun.

This is true. We have the darndest times in our banking and currency circles. Right now, for instance, we are agog.

A few months ago, when Congress was trying to work out the new tax bill, we were aghast. And before that—during hearings on OWI appropriations—we were agape.

Maybe sometime we will even be aglow. We are always "ag—" something, except, of course, against.

We are agog now because of an utterly confounding statement by Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida. Senator Pepper, seemingly, has discovered something never before dreamed of in monetary circles.

He has found a way to send somebody an anonymous check!

The Columbus-like New Dealer, who avers his greatest ambition is to nominate Mr. Roosevelt as President of the world, revealed his breath-taking discovery during debate on the Murray-Kilgore Demobilization and Reconversion Bill.

He was talking about what our warriors may expect when they come home, and he became very oratorical. The Senator, by the way, can get more agitated than a seidlitz powder.

For some reason, which mystified his listeners, he digressed to tell of a soldier whose pocket was picked in Naples and who came home broke. Then he added:

"I hope that someone—and I am sure he did when he heard the story—had the great satisfaction of sending an anonymous check with the message, 'Go ahead and enjoy yourself, from somebody who appreciates you.'"

WELL, IT SEEMS Senator Pepper must be ahead of his time because all us old Whigs and Tories in banking and currency circles had been prepared to swear you couldn't send an anonymous check. Or, anyway, that the recipient couldn't cash it if you did.

We had always held to the theory — undoubtedly outmoded —that a check had to have a signature on it. And that the signature must be that of the party making out the check; or from whose bank account the dough was to be drawn.

We had no idea you could send anybody a check bearing the signature "Guess who?" or "Roses are red, violets are blue, holy mackerel I love you."

IN FACT, a group of us monetary cut-ups went into a Western Union office one night and told the clerk we wished to send a money order collect. The girl—we had deliberately picked out the dumbest one we could find—started to make out the form, then halted.

"But," she objected, "how can you send it collect? WHO will pay for it?"

"Oh," we said, "the fellow on the other end. He has plenty of money."

"Then," she said, "why does he want you to send him a money order?"

"Because," we replied, "He is going to send it back to us. We are broke."

Well, she tried to digest this. Then she asked:

"Why doesn't he just send you the money in the first place?"

"Because," we explained, "we don't want to be under any obligation to him. If we first send him the money collect we will not owe him anything."

Finally, her brow almost twisted in knots, she called the manager. He, in turn, threatened to call the police.

HOWEVER, I am always impressed by Senator Pepper, so I figured he must have something. I called up the Treasury Department and said:

"I want to send somebody a check but I do not wish to be ostentatious. Would it be all right if I signed it, 'Mother of Eight'?"

The Treasury spokesman said he did not think it would be well for me to get funny with checks.

"Some of them," he said, "are bad enough just signed with your own name—I have heard."

In desperation, I called up Senator Capper, of Kansas, who is a member of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

"Listen, Senator," I said, "Senator Pepper is going around hoping someone has sent a soldier an anonymous check. Do you think the soldier will be ahead much on the deal?"

Senator Capper said he would think it over and call me back. Finally he did

"I have wracked my brain for two hours," he said, "and can't figure it out. I give up. What's the answer?"

I called Senator Pepper's office for an explanation but was told he was unavailable. Now, I am wondering if he sent that anonymous check himself and signed it:

"Moon over Miami."

"ABSENCE diminishes little passions and increases great ones, just as the wind blows out a candle and fans a fire," said La Rochefoucauld . . . "Absences are a good influence in love and keep it bright and delicate," observed R. L. Stevenson . . . "Absence quickens our love and elevates our affections," claimed Landor . . . George Bernard Shaw is the world's richest writer. The old boy is now paying £80,000, or about $320,000 annual income tax. He pays the British government 19 shillings, six pence for every pound of his income. In terms of United States money, that is $3.92 for every $4 earned. Or to put it another way, Mr. Shaw is permitted to keep eight cents of every $4 he receives as income.

LEGAL NOTE: It was once ruled by an Illinois jurist that when a woman picks the pockets of her sleeping husband she is only legally entitled to keep one-third of what money she finds there. We trust our Chicago subscribers will keep this in mind. The man who gave voice to this decision was Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who has since become the so-called "Czar of Baseball."

WOMEN, ETC.: A feminine contemporary states she has been trying to find out why so many women are discovering their husbands do not love them any more. As a result of this research, she suggests as a solution of the aforementioned sad state of affairs that a wife should be "a gay pal to her husband." The great trouble with feminine advice as to feminine matrimonial troubles is it is too superficial. Most women specializing in this type of advice do not seem to understand men. In the first place a great number of women just imagine their husbands don't love them any more. In the second place, if a man really doesn't love his wife it is going to take a lot more than her being "a gay pal" to win him back.

"His own idea to camouflage the wire like rose bushes!"

By E. V. Durling

PLEASE NOTE: If records could be sent to the fighting men overseas by their wives and sweethearts the best record that could be sent is probably "Jest A-Wearyin' for You," by Frank L. Stanton and Carrie Jacobs Bond . . . Only four Presidents of the United States have been 63 years of age or older at inauguration. And two of these died of natural causes while in office. These Presidents and their ages at inauguration were William H. Harrison, 68; Zachary Taylor, 64; James Buchanan, 65; Andrew Jackson, 65.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: "If a woman can't get her way she flies into a temper and reminds you of something you shouldn't have done ten years ago," said W. W. Jacobs. "No woman ever owned up she was wrong and the more you try to prove it to her the louder she talks about something else" . . . Note a reference to "Sally Rand, originator of the fan dance." That's not right. Faith Bacon originated the fan dance . . . Some experts on child care claim molasses, as it contains more iron, is better for kiddies than spinach. Maybe my mother knew something. I recall she often handed me a piece of bread spread with molasses, saying, "That's good for you." I never remember her urging me to eat spinach.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, AUG. 13—Clark Gable is not returning to work in September. He says he may never make another picture, which would be a terrible blow, not only to his studio, but to all his many fans.

Said Clark: "I saw so much death and suffering overseas that the movies will never appeal to me again, unless I can do something off the beaten path. Something that is not conventional, but is important and significant. Otherwise, I don't want to return to the screen. I don't need the money. I'm not rich, but I can live on very little on my ranch and be happy."

M-G-M already has announced "Lucky Baldwin" and several other pictures for Clark.

LOUIS HAYWARD is now out of uniform and ready to return to the movies. His first is the romantic lead in Edward Small's "Cagliostro," the story of the famed French hypnotist. This has been in preparation at least three years, and I think I remember hearing Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., mentioned for the romantic part. At any rate, it is to be a big picture, to cost, Eddie says, $1,500,000. The femme lead will be a well-known Broadway actress. While George Sanders has the title role and such well-known characters as Akim Tamiroff and J. Carroll Naish are in the cast lineup.

MONEY IS AGAIN a spectre in Freddie Bartholomew's career. The government has served him notice to pay back taxes. He appealed the case, and there may be a decision any time, perhaps in his favor, perhaps not. Because Freddie served so bravely back injury and because of the financial trouble he had as a child when his parents were fighting over his fortune, everyone hopes his tax troubles will be settled. Aunt Cissy told me the other day she and Freddie had been in this country 10 years and, of course, he's an American citizen. He is playing in "The Town Went Wild" for P. R. C. with his back still in a brace.

BETTY GRABLE told me she is going to take one day off a week until she finishes "Diamond Horseshoe." To look after her baby. "Does the studio know it?" I asked. She said. "Oh, yes. They have been very nice about it. I can't get a relief nurse I want to leave Vicky with, so I'll stay home the day my regular nurse is off." The baby is a darling, so pretty and with such a personality. I went to see Vicky the day she was baptized at All-Saints Episcopal Church in Beverly Hills. Harry James' and Betty's parents and her sister were all at the christening, and Vicky gurgled all through the ceremony.

THE RUMORS all over town that little Buff Cobb Chapman is going to sue Com. Greg Bautzer for an annulment, and vice versa, were denied by the bride herself over the long distance telephone. "We had a little battle," she said. "He moved to an advanced base and I didn't get a letter and was upset." It was as simple as that and Buff, who is 17, in her anger threatened to "show Greg." All is lovey-dovey now and she told me he had been given a Navy citation and will be home soon. You know the first year of marriage is the hardest, even when the bridegroom is at war.

SUSAN PETERS, who hasn't faced a camera since January, when she was taken so sick, comes back in the "WAC" movie which also stars Lana Turner and Laraine Day. The three gals all leave soon for Ft. Oglethorpe on location. Susie has been living in a small apartment without so much as a telephone, but happy because her husband, Richard Quine, has been stationed here and was with her when she was so sick.

IF YOU SAW "Mr. Skeffington" perhaps you remember Johnny Mitchell, who plays Bette Davis' last boy friend — the one who marries her daughter. Well, Johnny is to have one of the male leads in "Pillar to Post" opposite Ida Lupino. William Prince has the other important role. Now that Lana Hayward is out of uniform, Ida will make their separation legal as soon as she finishes this picture.

ALAN MARSHAL has been very ill, suffering from nervous exhaustion since he returned from his camp tour. His condition is so grave it has worried his friends and studio. If he doesn't improve it may mean getting another actor to star with Dorothy McGuire and Herbert Marshall in "Enchanted Cottage." It is too bad because Alan was so crazy about the story and felt it was his best opportunity in years.

* * *

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Director Eddie Sutherland and his wife are expecting a baby. That's news that will please all the friends of the popular Eddie and his equally popular wife, Edwina. She was formerly wed to Robert Mandel of Chicago; the Lana Turner divorce from Steve Crane comes up in two weeks. Steve has not signed the agreement for custody of the baby but is expected to do so in a few days; Esther Williams' romance with Lt. Ben Gage will bear watching; Luther Adler, Sylvia Sidney's estranged husband, has been calling Mrs. Freddie Slack, ex-wife of the band leader, from New York every other day; Marlene Dietrich's most interesting friendship of the moment is with Herbert Whiting of New York; Anne Shirley admits an engagement to Adrian Scott, but says there will be no marriage until her health improves; Franchot Tone inherits a sizable fortune from his father's estate; Pat Dane will not do "Red Adams," the "Dr. Gillespie" sequel. The excuse is, she's not the type.

Beauty

Grand Tonic for Hair

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IF YOU'D BE A 1944 CIRCE . . . with charm and allure and feminine appeal . . . your hair must be lustrous and alive . . . free from aging gray patches and mousey streaks . . . your hair must be vibrant and youthful in color and sheen . . . as lovely as Paramount Star Barbara Stanwyck's locks.

ALTHOUGH many theories have been advanced as to why some women have prematurely gray hair . . . or why others have halting gray hair . . . none of them has been definitely, completely proved. That is one of the idiosyncrasies of Nature who in her own, inexplicable way calls our attention to her power.

Age makes very little difference . . . for patches of gray will streak a young as well as an old head . . . and many a woman advanced in years has a head totally free from silver threads It used to be smart . . . ultra smart . . . for the youthful face to sport a graying head . . . but that belief went out with the ark . . . and today gray hair is an indication of age pure and simple.

PRICELESS INGREDIENTS

There is an unique hair aid for the premature gray head . . . or for the head that has started to turn gray and then has suddenly halted in this direction. It is a liquid that is used like a tonic or hair dressing . . . containing elements to help preserve the hair pigment as it conditions the scalp.

With the sun taking its toll of the life of hair . . . leaving it dry and faded . . . this unusual hair tonic . . . product of a famous hair specialist firm . . . will do much not only to restore the natural color and life to the hair . . . but prevent the multiplication of gray hairs you now have.

This tonic with priceless ingredients . . . cherished as a treasured secret by the makers . . . has the quality to renew the lost pigment of the hair . . . and to encourage faster growth of naturally colored hair. It comes in two different types . . . one for prematurely gray hair which is brown or black in color . . . and inclined to be either oily or dry . . . and the other, for prematurely gray hair which is light in color and also inclined to be dry.

BROUGHT MUCH

It is an unusual preparation which has brought untold favor to the New York salon of the firm sponsoring it . . . favor among men and women in high places in social and business circles.

For the name of this unique hair aid, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashion

THE BEIGE Brown and Gold of the leopard's spots are both a trimming and an inspiration for this handsome fall costume which won instant favor at the recent showings of the New York Dress Institute. The brown skirt is discreetly side draped . . . and waistbanded in leopard beneath the long gold wool squared jacket . . . with its deep collar points. The stunning surplice blouse is beige.— R. M.

Furlough Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: My fiance and I are planning to have a small church wedding . . . when he gets his next furlough. He wanted to have his brother, who is divorced, as his best man. Is this proper? I'm worried about it. ROBERTA.

Go to see the minister who is to perform the ceremony, and he will tell you if the church forbids it. If there is no law in your church concerning this, there will be no reason why your fiance's brother should not be best man.

Variety Meat Loaves Special Treats Always

By MARTHA LEE

MEAT LOAVES ARE ROASTS. They have wonderful flavor that develops as the meat and seasonings cook together. All meat loaves are delicious hot and tasty cold. That means they suit as well in the main course for dinner as they do for sandwiches in the lunch box the next day.

Variety meat loaves are a special treat. In the following recipes, one and one-half pounds of either lamb, pork, veal or beef liver may be used to serve eight, because the meat is extended with cracker crumbs. If it disappears in a hurry in a household that feeds only four, that will be because the family couldn't resist coming back for more.

LIVER LOAF

1½ lbs. liver — 2 slices bacon
1 medium onion — 2 eggs
1 tsp. salt — ¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. marjoram

Cook liver slowly for five minutes in water to cover. Reserve liquid. Put liver through food chopper with bacon and onion. Add all other ingredients except the catsup. Liquid in which the liver was cooked, meat stock, milk, tomato or other vegetable juice, may be used for moisture. Mix thoroughly. Pour the catsup into a well-greased loaf pan. Pack meat mixture over catsup. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for one hour.

Here are recipes for other meat loaves that satisfy summer appetites:

MEAT LOAF

2 lbs. chopped beef
¼ lb salt pork
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
3 tbsp. butter, melted
3 tbsp. catsup
½ tsp pepper
1 tbsp salt
1 medium-sized onion, minced
1 cup soft bread crumbs
3 strips bacon

Mix meat with slightly beaten eggs, milk, butter, catsup, seasonings, onion, and bread crumbs. Shape in loaf or pack in greased 8x4-inch loaf pan. Cover with strips of bacon and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 45 minutes, until well browned. Serve with tomato sauce or mushroom sauce, mashed or scalloped potatoes, and any green vegetable. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

HAM AND VEAL LOAF

1 lb. ground ham
1 lb. ground veal
2 cups soft bread crumbs
¾ cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tbsp. finely chopped parsley
2 tbsp. green pepper, chopped
1 tsp. onion, finely chopped
¼ tsp. poultry seasoning
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. salt

Mix all ingredients thoroughly; pack in a loaf pan or baking dish, or mix together the bread crumbs, milk, egg, parsley, green pepper, onion and seasoning. Divide into 2 parts. Mix one-half with the ground ham and the other half with the veal. Put the veal mixture into the loaf pan; pack the ham mixture on top of the veal. Bake in a moderate oven (350) deg. F.) for 1 hour. Unmold on a hot platter and slice. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

FAVORITE MEAT LOAF

4 slices dry bread or toast, broken in pieces
1 cup warm milk
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup minced onion
1 lb. ground beef
½ lb. ground pork
½ lb. ground veal
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. salad oil
1 cup chili sauce
1 bouillon cube
½ cup hot water

Soften bread in milk; add eggs, onion, meats, and seasonings; mix thoroughly. Form in 8-inch square loaf in greased, 9-inch square pan. Spread with salad oil, then with chili sauce. Dissolve bouillon cube in water; pour around loaf. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1½ to 2 hours, basting every 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Introductions to Your Mother

In introductions your mother outranks everyone. That is, regardless of age, sex, or rank, everyone should be presented to your mother . . . "Mother, may I present Mr. Allen"; "Mother, this is Miss Wallace"; "Mother, may I present Colonel Wells."

—MRS. BEECKMAN.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

INTRODUCTIONS HINT—Try to "get" the name of the person introduced and, if he's in the service give a thought to rank, branch, etc. It's tactless to ask a Marine if he likes the Army or to address a corporal as "Private."

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday—Friday night our ambassador to Cuba, Mr. Spruille Baden, and Mrs. Baden spent the night with us, and it brought to my mind the terrible mistake in my account of the morning spent at the Lincoln School

I said I attended a class which was largely made up of "Mexican" students, and I meant to say a group of "Cuban" students. Both countries have always seemed to me so close to the United States and of so much interest and importance to us that perhaps in my mind I was thinking of both of them. But it was a stupid mistake. I explained to Ambassador Braden how embarrassed I was when it confronted me the next day in my column

AMBASSADOR BRADEN has spent so many years in different parts of South and Central America, that I find him extremely interesting to talk with.

Mr. M. Stanley McLean, who is not, I imagine, a writer by profession, has sent me a little story in pamphlet form of his experiences at sea—primarily of the 13 days he spent adrift after his ship was sunk. I do not know if it is possible to buy this pamphlet; but it makes interesting reading, and if you ever run across it, I think you will realize better what being in the Merchant Marine, in the present war, has meant.

The McGraw-Hill publishing Co. has an interesting advertisement called "The National Debt and Your Post-War Job," which has been sent me. A little part of it I would like to quote: "A huge debt may so draw out the hidden powers of a people that it makes the nation wealthier rather than poorer, stronger rather than weaker.

"UP TO NOW, Americans have not met the test of a big public debt too well. Individuals have saved more in cash than in government bonds, and the country has shown little interest in avoiding the kind of taxes that reduce the demand for labor. These shortcomings, I am sure, stem largely from the fact that American people never have had the problems of debt and taxation honestly and adequately explained to them. I have confidence in the American people."

I have confidence too, in the American people, for what we set ourselves to do, we always accomplish. Just now our first concern is full employment.

Teen-Agers, Standby

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE DIRNDL DRESS, old standby for teen-age girls and juniors, is once again high on the list of styles for the schoolgirl in her teens. But, the teener has a new kind of dirndl, altered to her own specifications, this Fall. It combines the fitted basque waist with the dirndl skirt, and what it looks like can be seen in our sketch.

This particular model is made of shantung, designed specially by Wesley Simpson for teeners. The pattern is the merry-go-round, and parts therefrom, in color, on white shantung. The basque waist buttons on metal buttons and is edged with quaint pleated frills down the front of the waist and around the neck and sleeves.

The full skirt has vertical set-in pockets, likewise bordered with frills of the material.

Cook Treats Scribe To N. E. Apple Pie

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—Order of the day was the customary "cold and damp" and the lieutenant proposed a draught of coffee in the cook-shack. It was a welcome respite, made brighter by the suggestion from the man in the white apron: "Have a piece of New England apple pie?"

He was Pvt. Charles F. Barrett, 35, of 44 Estes st., Lynn. Wife: Lucille. Baby: Charlene, 2.

Barrett cooked and baked for the Flying Yankee in Lynn and learned the art thoroughly, judging by the taste of the pie. The apples were not New England's best, but the crust was crisp and most palatable. "He's a good cook," said the lieutenant, "and a good fellow. Felt sorry for him a little while back. He lost his mother, couldn't get home. That's hard."

In the same quartermasters' outfit was PFC James O'Brien, 26, of 21 Chester ave., Providence. Wife: Mary. Son: James J., almost a year. O'Brien played baseball for BC's Jack Cronin at La Salle Academy, was a meter reader for Narragansett Electric. He wished to be remembered to Roy Holt and Joe O'Brien, with whom he worked in pre-war days. He liked to read letters sent him from Africa by Russ O'Neil.

In the medics camp was PFC Winfield Clark, 20, of 56 Wilmot st., Portland, Me. Mother: Mrs. Margaret L. Clark. The youngster had left high school after his sophyear to help his widowed mother. He became manager of a First National Store. Now his mother is at home alone, because brothers Jay and Ernest have both entered the Army since Winfield came to the ETO 15 months ago.

Over here since Nov. '42 was Pvt. Raymond Jay, 4 Varney ave., Houlton, Me.

Mother: Mrs. Margaret Jay. The mustachioed medic was a constructor back home, but didn't let it interfere with his hunting. "Third straight hunting season I'll have missed," he commented. Bro. Donald was in the Army in Australia, "probably hunting kangaroos."

Pvt. Verne Dockman, Route 1, Concord, N. H., was only 21 in July, but had been overseas since March '43. "Never beeen home since I took the oath in Feb. '43," said the boy medic. Verne worked for Davis Paper Co., liked his boss Arnold Hoyt. Bro. George, 22, is also in the Army. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Dockham.

Sgt. Morris Ginsberg, 38, the old hoss player from Narragansett, ("I liver there") came over in Nov. '42. He was an upholsterer on Broad st., Providence, is mess sgt. for the medics. "Our colonel, Louis Normandin, is from Providence," said Ginsberg. "He keeps me because I know how to bake beans Boston style. He loves them."

Cpl. Sebastiano Carta, 53 Union st., Lawrence, was a baker at Fisichelli's on the same street, is with the medics. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carta. Carta's home town pal (censored.)

WORKED IN PEABODY

Cpl. Eurico Silva, 67 Palmer st., Salem (formerly 89 Tremont st., Peabody) also had a buddy—Manuel Vieria, missing in action since the Sicilian campaign. "We worked together in a leather factory in Peabody," said Silva.

So much for the medics. Now a peek in at headquarters. Here we find:

Sgt. Emil Desrosiers, 66 Dracut st., Lawrence. Wife: Evelyn. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Desrosiers, 915 Essex st., Lawrence. Desrosiers worked for U. S. Shuttle Co., Lowell st., Lawrence, made amateur radio his hobby.

Since joining the Army July 2, 1941, he has specialized in radio and is now a repair man. "I love it," he said. "I'm going to make it my life work." Bro-in-law Ray Kershaw, is in the Navy.

There, too, was Sgt. Philip J. Conroy, 27, of 29 Cedar st., Lynn. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Roger. St. Mary's High, Lynn, worked in Conroy's a strapping six-footer whose pink cheeks make him look more like 21 than 27. He attended Lynn G. E.

He's been in the Army since July '41, and like Desrosiers, is a radio addict. "Picked it up since I joined the Army," he said. He liked athletics, and talked about the Red Sox, Pip Kennedy, Jim Hegan and Charlie Bessom; talked of Vincent Shanahan, home from the wars, and cousin Joe Clancy, who was at Oran. "Boy," he exclaimed, stabbing ragged cigar in peanut can, "what I wouldn't give for a box of good smokes."

All these New England boys are now in Normandy.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Greetings, fokes. It seems that my old friends haven't forgotten me. At least not Billy and Evelyn Nightingale and Slappy, formerly of Slappy and Red, now known as the Two Zephyrs. These kids worked for me for years and now are featured with Lionel Hampton's Band, which jess closed a week's run at the RKO Theatre here on Washington Street, but that didn't stop 'em from droppin' in on me every night with a few boys from the band, to help entertain the legionnaires who were in town fer a three day stay. And they really did enjoy themselves! Yessirree! It's jess like one of the boys said, Ort's Grille and El Tropico Room are about the only spots in town where old friends meet, and meet new friends, too! . . . Golly, and ain't it wonderful the way our boys are tearin' up the turf in France. Must look worse than yers trooly in a sand trap, sez the Mrs. . . . Paris is the next stop fer General Eisenhower's big invasion Choo-Choo, but it may be an express to Berlin, so lookout Adolf! And remember that ferocious Russian bear snapping at one leg, and the Allied Steamroller closing in from the other direction. Bet momma didn't tell him there'd be days like this. Ort's Grille and El Tropico Room, Essex Street, Downtown Boston. Advt.

Dance for Debs

IN A SEASON WHEN DEBUTANTE parties are almost a forgotten pleasure in Boston our local debs are turning green with envy at reports of summer gaieties for the younger set in Washington where there are always enough males to provide a good stag line.

In the current Town and Country Betty Grove Smith describes a number of outstanding Capital parties and there have been many since the war has made Washington the country's leading summer resort. Mrs. Leland Harrison, wife of the Minister to Switzerland gave a garden supper dance at the fashionable 1925 F st. Club for daughter Anne with all the prettiest debs of the city, a stage line of handsome unifirmed officers and a few close friends of the hostess such as the Philip Coffins.

Mr. George von L. Meyer, superintendent of the Children's Hospital, Boston American, Aug. 14—23

Tops in deb circles was the enormous party Mrs. Edward Stotesbury gave for Virginia Cameron Baird of Baltimore, a finishing school classmate of several Boston debs. It was an afternoon reception rivalling anything given in Newport even in that resort's palmiest days.

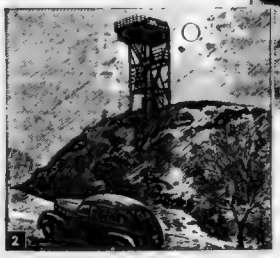
"GAS COUPONS DON'T GROW ON TREES..."

"Sure glad I've got a FORD!"

says MRS. RUSSELL PERKINS
Social Worker
Moorestown, New Jersey

● The millions of Ford owners share a special pride and satisfaction. For they know that economy, reliability and smart appearance have been built into their cars to last. And efficient Ford Protective Service is readily available wherever they may be. That's why you will hear it said over and over again, "Sure glad I've got a Ford!"

"EVERY WEEKDAY, RAIN OR SHINE, my faithful 1939 Ford carries three of us to the hospital where I work in the Out-Patient Clinic. It's 18 miles round-trip ... and with every drop of gas precious, Ford's famous economy means a lot!"



"MY HUSBAND WAS 'CHIEF OBSERVER' of the Army Aircraft Warning Service. And many a cold night our Ford has climbed Mt. Laurel. But we never had trouble. And with regular check-ups at our Ford dealer's, repairs have cost very little."

"BEFORE THE WAR, the car was filled with children, dogs, golf clubs and tennis racquets. Now, on Sundays my twin granddaughters visit their great grandmother. We've had mighty happy times in our Ford. It's like one of the family!"

NEWS NOTES—Raw materials reaching the Rouge plant of Ford by boat are unloaded by great mechanical jaws which take 15-ton bites. As much as 850,000 tons of iron ore and 1,700,000 tons of coal arrive at the Rouge in a single season.

New Air Route Will Give Boston-Hartford Direct East-West Transcontinental Service

United Air Lines has long wanted to bring its famous Main Line Airway to New England. Now that objective has been realized.

Just as soon as equipment is available, United will operate Mainliners from Boston and Hartford straight through to Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Denver and major Pacific Coast cities.

The strategic Main Line Airway is the direct time-saving route that goes where business is. It serves the populous areas of the Middle West, Great Plains, Inter-mountain and entire Pacific Seaboard.

It is the nation's oldest coast-to-coast route and the fast, direct, short route right across the heart of the nation. You will enjoy traveling with United.

4 New Shows Listed for Hub

Boston's theater season will be inaugurated on Monday evening, August 21, when "Last Stop," a melodrama by Irving Kaye Davis, will open at the Wilbur.

The production, sponsored by Victor Hugo-Vidal, and played by such stalwarts as Minnie Dupree, Catharine Doucet, Enid Markey, Seth Arnold, Eda Heineman and Grace Valentine, will be at the Wilbur for a week only. Erwin Piscator, celebrated Continental director, is staging the show.

The scene is a haven for women, gathered there both by circumstance and choice. They are a scrappy and conspiratorial group.

An attempt is made to transfer them to another nearby home. This touches off the rebellion.

"Life With Father," coming to the Colonial for a two weeks' visit beginning Aug. 28, announces that it will give away $250 in War Bonds. All anyone has to do is to mail or deliver a list of numbered English words made from the phrase, "Funny Life With Father" to the Colonial Theater, Boston, by Aug. 28. To each of the authors of the 10 longest lists will go a $25 War Bond.

Olsen and Johnson are again headed toward Boston with a new show. They have an undoubted leaning for this city, for it was here that "Hellzapoppin" had its world premiere in September, 1938. Then in October, 1941, they appeared in their newest show, "Sons O' Fun."

Eerie Movie To Para-Fen

Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound," drama of the supernatural, has a way of cropping up again on both stage and screen. Its new appearance is in a screen play called "Between Two Worlds," due next Thursday at the Paramount and Fenway. John Garfield, Paul Henreid, Sidney Greenstreet, Eleanor Parker and Faye Emerson are the principals.

The play's action takes place aboard ship. The characters are all departed souls bound for the Beyond. The subject is always eerie and fascinating.

On the same bill, in fact, sharing the first-run billing, is the merry domestic comedy, "Make Your Own Bed."

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 14—Moss Hart and Sidney Kingsley brought up an interesting topic at the Lamb Room the other night. They had been talking about the number of times "Show Boat" had been done on the stage and on the radio and in the movies, and the fabulous fortune Edna Ferber had derived from all these versions of her story of the Mississippi, and in the course of the conversation it occurred to them that while playwrights were well-protected in the matter of the use or re-use of their plays, there was still no way of guaranteeing continuing royalties on the characters they had created.

Monty Woolley

Sidney, for instance, fashioned a mob of tough, terrifying, formerly pathetic, terribly true-to-life tenement kids in "Dead-End." They were so well-done, so entertaining and so believable that the young actors who played the roles became known internationally as "The Dead End Kids." For years after they appeared in the movie version of the Kingsley play, they continued to work as a group, and were billed as "The Dead End Kids." They all made fortunes and the studio netted millions, but Sidney grossed nothing further except the enedible reward of satisfaction.

SGT. JERRY LEWIS who writes and directs the Army radio show, "Visiting Hour," has interviewed scores of wounded war heroes in the course of preparing scripts for the broadcasts. He invariably holds long sessions and informal "heart to hearts" with the young lads to find out what they really think about as they go into battle, how they feel about the handicaps the war has left them, and what are their reactions to homecoming. He has discovered that often the emotions in a warrior's breast are not those most glorified by the fiction writers.

At Deshon General Hospital, in Butler, Pa., for instance, he sought to draw out a young soldier who had participated in the invasion of Sicily, been wounded, and returned home in a hospital ship

"It must have been quite a thrill to get back," Sgt. Lewis said.

The boy nodded

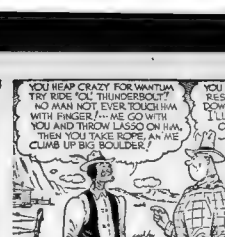
"Yeah," he said. "Yeah, it was."

"Well, what did you feel when you first caught sight of the Statue of Liberty?" asked the sergeant.

"Oh, I don't know," said the hero. "I guess I was glad to be back."

"What about the other fellows on board?"

"I suppose they are glad, too."



"But weren't you excited?" pursued Sgt. Lewis.

The kid's face lit up. "Yeah I guess we were," he said. "Because we were all standing out on deck and when we saw the Statue of Liberty we all started yelling."

Sgt. Lewis gave a now-we're getting-somewhere sigh. "Can you remember what you were yelling?" he asked, pencil poised

The kid nodded. "Sure," he grinned. "We all yelled 'Where's Frankie? Where's Stella?'"

Star Shines By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug 14—The other evening I met a pretty young blonde girl, Loretta, and to make conversation I said that I had missed her at the night club where she had worked as a hat-check girl.

"Oh, I gave that up," she said. "I'm studying to be an actress. My name is Liza Elliott now. You remember the heroine of 'Lady in the Dark'? I took her name. Good, isn't it?"

I made no comment. "What studio are you at?" I asked.

Loretta, I mean Liza, said, "No studio, I'm going to dramatic school. I'm studying with Madame Trazafasa."

"You mean you're going to one of those many dramatic schools that flourish on practically every street in Hollywood? I thought a girl with your connections would get into a studio."

"The trouble with you," said Liza, "is that you believe what you write. You believe that all a girl has to do is to sit in a drug store sipping an ice cream soda, be discovered, slip into a sweater and become a star. I'm not built that way. When I become an actress I want to know the technique of acting."

"You actually mean to tell me that you're studying this business of making faces for the camera?"

"You've got to work to accomplish anything," said Liza Elliott. "That's what Madame Trazafasa always says. That's how she got where she is today. She used to be a fine actress. I work hard at it. I'm in class every morning by eight-thirty. There are only ten pupils in a class. The Madame can't handle any more at one time. We all stand at attention when Madame Trazafasa arrives. When she is seated she slowly passes her eyes, which is the signal for the class to be seated."

I LISTENED to Liza in amazement. She never used to be that kind of a girl around a night club.

"Then," continued Liza, eager to explain everything to me, "the Madame tells the newcomers that she sometimes goes into a trance and that it's up to the class to wake her up. She wants to be emotionally awakened by the sheer force of our dramatic ability."

"You're kidding," I said.

"No, I'm not," said Liza. "Let me tell you about my dramatic lesson. The first time during it school I spent rolling imaginary snowballs on a hardwood floor. You may laugh, but let me tell you that I put as much feeling into this that I developed a mild case of frostbite."

"I have to smile a little," I said. "What next?"

"By the end of the first week Madame Trazafasa felt that I and the rest of the class—was so adept at making snowballs that she put us to work at advanced imagination development. The scene was an imaginary cafeteria. 'Here,' said the Madame, pointing out at nothing, 'are the tables. The potato salad is on the left, the hot dishes are over there and the dessert is in the corner. Help yourself.'

"You mean you had plenty of nothing?"

"Quit your kidding. It was a great scene."

"You know what I heard today? We've been frozen to our jobs!"

George Holland

Boston After Dark

IF IT WORKS OUT, the most spectacular parlay now by a Boston night club operator in years will be the one which—on paper—promises another fortune for Eddie Davis, owner of the Fox and Hounds Club . . . (Eddie started the Fox and Hounds largely on optimism). Negotiations have been underway for weeks, and are about to be concluded, we hear, between Davis and the owners of an island off Buzzards Bay . . . The island for many years was the site of an exclusive boys' camp . . . But the boss of the Fox and Hounds proposes to convert it into an exclusive summer resort . . . It . . . the island . . . is 55 acres wide and long and deep . . . It has a main house, 22 buildings and a nine-hole golf course . . . It has a mile and a half shore line and 20 boats . . . The deal may be closed this week.

WITH BOSTON IN THE DOLDRUMS as far as new after-dark spots may be mentioned, there comes the gladdening news that at least two night clubs, each based on notions involving some imagination, are in the promotional stage . . . One is a few rods from the Shubert Theater, and the other is uptown, in an exclusive section where opposition may be expected from the very potent Marlboro St. Association

IN SPEAKING OF THE FOX and Hounds, it should have been mentioned that a sparkling little acrobatic-tap dancer named Folie Mullet (and don't ask about that first name being linked with so prosaic a tag as Mullet) is making a dozen new friends a night . . . She is really good when subjected to this department's test of a good acrobatics dancer who slides into taps . . . The test simply is whether the performer emerges from her acrobatics with enough balance to step out the first beat of her taps, and Folie, or Miss Mullet, passes with an "A" . . . Terry Lynn, the magician, is also very good, and with Wilson Lewis's music, the Fox and Hounds has the strongest show in months.

FROM "MISSING IN ACTION" to the dread "killed in action" the message from the adjutant general's office was changed in exactly 30 days, and Lt. Harold O. "Danny" Cadish, C. D. 505 Parachute Infantry, is being mourned today by a host of friends and relatives . . . Two generations of the Fields' former sect, remember "Danny" Cadish . . . He played semi-pro football for the Scarlet and White Club, and as a basketball player and swimmer with the YMCU he made a regiment of followers and well-wishers . . . Mack Shapiro, who used to sell Boston Americans at the South Station "corner" owned by George S. "Snap" Cohen, will miss Lt. Cadish, his brother-in-law, most acutely . . . In civilian life, Lt. Cadish was Mack's right hand in a business developed from scratch into a goldmine.

"DANNY" WAS IN the first wave of paratroopers that "went over" on D-day . . . For a month he and his company were in the forefront of action . . . News that he was missing was forwarded to his relatives a month after D-day . . . The message of his death came two months to the day after the invasion . . . With an easy "out" on the grounds of dependency, young Cadish pleaded for a chance to fight and was transferred into the paratroopers after a plea for action

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Mexico is sending into this country the best menswear accessories, including shorts, undershirts and socks, obtainable . . . The undershirts, for instance, are the full-length item known to smart haberdashery shops before the war . . . The shorts are of rich material, and roomy and comfortable . . . The socks are of a material known as "Mexican lisle" . . . But they fit a foot as if they had been measured . . . This department ran across the Mexican product in a State st. haberdashery, and we wish that it were ethical to mention its name . . . Other imports coming from "South of the Border" include hair-tonic and toilet-water

THE TWO CHINESE restaurants in Brookline are doing so much business that places in Boston are feeling it . . . Bernice Parks leaves next week for Hollywood for an engagement at the Town House . . . Jack Chan, Chinatown's best-known maitre d', is home from a New York visit . . . Jack was offered an executive's position with the House of Chan (his family's New York restaurant-chain), but he likes Boston, where he would be missed

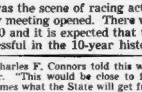
Sprinters Clash At Gansett Today

By JACK CONWAY

NARRAGANSETT Park was the scene of racing activity once more today as a 42-day meeting opened. There will be racing right through Sept. 30 and it is expected that the meeting will be the most successful in the 10-year history of the Rhode Island track.



Judge Dooley

Racing has been booming in all parts of the United States. The public, with plenty of fresh money as a result of the war boom in business, is eager to bet and also to see a fine field of thoroughbreds battling through the stretch and on down to the mythical wire.

This inflated condition will probably not last indefinitely, but while it does racing will enjoy its greatest period of prosperity. There will be new attendance and mutuel records, larger purses for horsemen, top marks for horses sold at private sales and in claiming races, and a desire on the part of the owners of tracks to install the most modern devices to help the sport of kings.

The $2500 Block Island, a six furlongs sprint, will head the eight race program at Narragansett Park which is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p. m. It is expected that Mintlock, who showed such impressive form winning at Rockingham Park, will be the favorite. The list of entries for this race includes the names of some of the best sprinters to appear at New England tracks, and it is expected that the competition will be thrilling.

In addition to horses that have been running in New England and at New York tracks, a large number of horses have been shipped from the West Coast to Narragansett Park. This will give the public interested in betters an opportunity to figure out whether the western horses are better than those that have been racing in the East.

Turner a Steward

THERE WILL be only one important change in the official family for the Narragansett meeting. John P. Turner, who is racing secretary at Rockingham Park, will take the place of Sam Nuchols in the stewards' stand. Norman Charlton will be the other association steward, while Hap Fenelon will be the State steward. Hap has acted in this capacity since Gov. Ad Howard McGrath took office, and has done much to improve the efficiency of racing in Rhode Island.

The passing of Nuchols from the stewards' stand ended the period when Kentucky men had control of the running of the races at Narragansett Park. Bob Shelley, racing secretary who died last winter in Florida, was from Kentucky as was Norris Royden, who was replaced as steward by Norman Charlton.

Ty Shea says he has an abundance of horses for his races and that he should be able to arrange attractive cards. He hopes to have Twilight Tear compete in the New England Oakes on Labor Day, while he is confident he will have the best handicap horses in the country on hand for the $25,000 Narragansett Special on Sept. 16.

Shea did a good job at the spring meeting at Narragansett, and should do even better now that he is firmly established in his new berth.

20 Million Lottery

THE MASSACHUSETTS Racing Commission has been studying what profits the State could derive from a lottery. The commission wishes to be prepared to give expert opinion if it should be asked for information on this matter.

"If a State lottery was run four times a year the profit would be about $20,000,000." Chairman Charles F. Connors told this writer. "This would be close to four times what the State will get from horse and dog racing this year. With horse and dog tracks doing record businesses, we expect to get $5,500,000 for the State this year.

"The commission has also given some thought to legalized horse rooms. We do not believe the State should operate such rooms, but if they are legalized the State should supervise them."

The money wagered, Commr. Connors says, could be sent back to the race tracks. This would give the tracks and the State a share of this extra betting which would run into the millions of dollars.

It is felt in many quarters that in the postwar period there will be such an urge for money by the State that a lottery and legalized horse rooms are possibilities. It would be merely a case of the State taking over control of betting enterprises that are now run by individuals who keep all of the profits themselves.

Two Ball Player Attack Victims

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14 (AP)—Two Seattle, Wash., baseball players were taken to a hospital with knife wounds early today after reporting to police that they were cut by two assailants on a downtown street corner.

Radio patrol officers J. M. doctors and R. E. Brown reported that William Derflinger, 24, center fielder, and Gene Holt, 23, southpaw pitcher, said two Negroes approached them as they were laughing and talking. The ball players said the Negroes made some remark about "objecting to ridicule," then slashed them with knives and fled.

Holt was treated for a four-inch laceration of his left arm and Derflinger for a similar wound of his left arm.

The Seattle club completed a series yesterday with the Hollywood stars.

Sunday's Stars

By the Associated Press

BABBY DOERR, Red Sox, and MARK CHRISTMAN, Browns—Each drove in 3 runs apiece in 13th inning won opener; Christman his single and triple to drive in two runs and scored twice as Browns nipped Athletics, 4-3, in second game.

DON BLACK, Athletics, and DIZZY TROUT, Tigers—Black held Tigers and drove in single to end Detroit's nine-game winning streak; Trout blanked A's in nightcap to become first major league pitcher to win 19 games.

RUSS DERRY, Yankees, and RALPH HODGIN, White Sox—Derry hit grand slam homer in third inning of opener; Hodgin made three hits in nightcap, hitting safely in his 11th straight game, and drove in three runs.

MICKEY HAEFNER and STAN SPENCE, Senators—Haefner ended Nats' five-game losing streak with 2-1 five-hit victory against Indians in opener; Spence hit three-run homer in first inning of nightcap to win second game, 4-1.

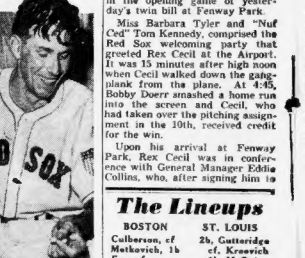
MAX LANIER and STAN MUSIAL, Cardinals—Lanier achieved his 15th victory and his fifth over Dodgers in winning opener, 4-1 ;Musial hit homer and double, drove in three runs and scored two as Cards won nightcap, 7-3.

RON NORTHEY, PHILLIES—Homered in opener to give Phils 3-2 victory over Cubs; drove in three runs in 7-5 second game triumph.

Rex Cecil's Dramatic Bow Talk of All Fandom

By BILL GRIMES

Four and one-half hours after he had stepped out of the plane at the Boston Airport, Rex Cecil, the big right-hand pitcher purchased by Tom Yawkey from San Diego, was credited with his first major league victory by virtue of a home run by Bobby Doerr, which gave the Red Sox a 7 to 6 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the opening game of yesterday's twin bill at Fenway Park.



BOBBY DOERR AND REX CECIL, THEY DID THE TRICK—Bobby delivered the game winning homer in the 13th inning of yesterday's first while big Rex, just hot off an airplane from the West Coast, steps into the fray in the 10th and holds the dangerous St. Louis Browns at bay. It was the last word in courageous pitching.

Miss Barbara Tyler and "Nuf Ced" Tom Kennedy, comprised the Red Sox welcoming party that greeted Rex Cecil at the Airport. It was 15 minutes after high noon when Cecil walked down the gangplank from the plane. At 4:45, Bobby Doerr smashed a home run into the screen and Cecil, who had taken over the pitching assignment in the 10th, received credit for the win.

Upon his arrival at Fenway Park, Rex Cecil was in conference with General Manager Eddie Collins, who, after signing him to a Red Sox contract, accompanied him to the clubhouse and introduced him to Manager Joe Cronin, who, in turn, turned him over to Johnny Orlando to be uniformed.

Cecil started East last Friday. He was supposed to have through reservation, but he was grounded at Tucson, Ariz., and delayed about 20 hours. He hadn't pitched since last Wednesday. In fact, he hadn't thrown a ball until Joe Cronin waved him to warm up after Leon Culberson's 9th inning homer.

WHAT A GUY!

After the game, Cecil said until he started to pitch in the bull pen, he hadn't done anything but smoke cigars and sit around airplanes and hotel lobbies since last Thursday. And, he added that yesterday was the first time he had ever been in a big league ball park.

During the four innings he pitched yesterday, Cecil was in plenty of trouble. In the 10th, the Browns had the bases loaded with only one out, but Cecil pitched himself out of the jam by striking out George Caster and Don Gutteridge. In the next inning, Cecil was saved by a fast double play and he was in a bit trouble in the 12th and another in the 13th.

Cecil displayed fine courage, particularly in the 10th, when with two balls and two on Gutteridge, he threw a half speed curve ball and got it over. He has a good fast ball and a fine "slider" but apparently enough "stuff" to warrant a prediction that he will help the Red Sox.

Last Chance to File Swimming Entries

By MIKE GILLOOLY

There's still today and tomorrow to file your entry for the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Championship Swimming meet to be held next Sunday afternoon at Carson Beach, South Boston, in conjunction with the Mass. Youth Committee.

The entry list is open to all-with events suit all from the youngest novice to the most experienced veteran.

There'll be a quartet of New England A. A. A. U. championships to be decided, featuring the program of 16 events, one of the greatest swimming meets held in the history of New England. These title events will list the senior 880-yard freestyle championship for women; the senior 100-meters breaststroke for women; the junior, 50-meters freestyle for women and the 100-meters backstroke for men.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin will present his trophy to the winner of the half-mile race for women.

Other open events on the program list; for women—100-meter freestyle; 100-meters backstroke; 50-meters exclusively for servicewomen; and 50-meters tests for 10-11, 11-12 year olds; for men—100-meters freestyle; 100-meters backstroke; 440-yards freestyle; 100-meters for servicemen and 50-meters for 10-11, 12-13 and 14-15 year olds. Most of the youngsters will be graduates of the Learn To Swim program.

Leading the way into the tournament will be the Olneyville Boys' Club and its auxiliary of Providence, R. I. This energetic association will send 14 representatives with a potent threat for top honors in all but three events. The team will be led by Louise Sherlock, 13-year-old swimming star, who has beent cutting her place in championship races earlier this season.

Entries may be filed with the Swimming Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 8, Mass.

Only One Game In Park Loop

Only one game scheduled in the Park League playoffs tonight as the Casey Club, defending champions of the circuit, has clinched a finalist berth and tonight's tilt between Linehan Club and Watertown Arsenal at Lee Park, South Boston, may decide who Casey's opponent will be.

Bill Benson's Linehan team is leading in the series having won the first game last week and if it should take this one the finals will start tomorrow. But Watertown Arsenal, never an easy touch, has come to life again and will make a good fight of it, possibly forcing the series to go to the limit.

Both teams have the pitchers; both have the hitters, and both want to win the series as each is confident it can knock the present title holder off the throne. The Linehans have four pitchers ready to throw into the fray while the Arsenal will depend mostly on the underarm slants of Will "Cannonball" Jackman and the speed of Chuck Edgerly.

Dizzy Trout Hangs Up 19th Victory

By Associated Press

Paul "Dizzy" Trout, Detroit's right-handed pitching ace, probably will be the first major league twirler to win 20 games this year.

In addition he seems a cinch to become the first pitcher in the American League to win 20 games in successive seasons since Bobby Feller of Cleveland turned th trick in 1940 and '41.

The hard working Tiger twirler from Sandcut, Ind., yesterday achieved his 19th victory, more than any other major league hurler, when he blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 6-0 in the nightcap of a twin-bill, after the A's behind Don Black's three-hit pitching, had defeated Hal Newhouser, also gunning for his 19th win, in the opener 6-1. The Tiger defeat in the first game ended a nine-game winning streak, one shy of the league's high mark set by the St. Louis Browns.

Besides winning the most complete games in the majors, 22, the most innings, 245, and tied with four other hurlers in hurling the most shutouts in his league, three. Incidentally, all of his shutouts have been against the A's.

AFTER FELLER'S RECORD

Trout's high total of innings pitched puts him in line to better the "modern" mark of 343 innings set by Feller in 1941. Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox set the all-time record of 464 innings in 1908, when he won 20 games.

The victory was Trout's fifth straight and his 11th in his last 12 games. In 27 starts, he has been the out of the box only five times.

Max Lanier gained his 15th victory of the season and his fifth over the Dodgers in the opener as the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals took two games from Brooklyn 4-1 and 7-3. Harry Brecheen got credit for his 11th win against two defeats in winning the second game.

Rip Sewell won his 12th and Fritz Ostermueller annexed his 10th victory of the season as the Pittsburgh Pirates swept a twin-bill fro mthe Boston Braves 9-3 to 1 and 3 to 1 for the Bucs fifth and six straight win. Frank Colman hit his fourth homer in five games to win the second contest.

The New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox exchanged drubbings the Yankees won the opener, 10-1, and the White Sox came back to take the second, 11-3. Russ Derry of the Yankees joined a select group of seven American leaguers when he hit a grand slam home run in the third inning of the opener.

George Stirnweiss stole two bases, his 35th and 36th, to increase his league lead. He has not been caught stealing in his last 14 attempts.

The Philadelphia Phillies took both ends of a double-header from the Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 7-4, before 38,576 Wrigley Field fans. The twin triumph moved them into seventh place, one game ahead of the Dodgers, who fell back into the National League cellar.

Washington Senators snapped a five-game losing streak by downing the Cleveland Indians twice, 2-1 and 4-1. Early Wynn received credit for the second-game victory, his first triumph since June 23. He har lost 10 straight, tops in the majors.

The Cincinnati Reds handed the New York Giants their fifth and sixth straight defeats by taking both ends of a twin bill, 4-3 and 9-2. George Hausmann made three errors in the fourth inning of the nightacap to give the Reds four unearned runs. Nap Reyes, subbing for the injured Phil Weintraub at first base for he Giants, made six hits in seven official times at bat.

John E. Warner SAYS:

"THIS CAN HAPPEN TO YOU"

If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as excessive falling hair, dandruff and itching scalp, it is possible for you to lose your hair within a short time. Since you are bald you will always be bald, and your appearance will be permanently marred.

Thousands of men and women have saved and improved their hair through treatment by John E. Warner and Associates, but hundreds of others have been rejected because they waited too long. A private scalp examination and consultation is available to you at the offices of John E. Warner and Associates without cost or obligation.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. There is a separate department for women.
